	Module name MSE-2910	Technological Change and the Labour Market	5 ECTS
2	Courses/lectures	Seminar: Technological Change and the Labor Market (2 SWS)	5 ECTS
3	Lecturers	Prof. Dr. Melanie Arntz
4	Module coordinator	Prof. Arntz
	Contents Learning objectives and	This seminar examines the intersection of technological change and the labour market, exploring how advances in technology impact employment, wages, inequality, and the nature of work. The course draws on theoretical frameworks and empirical evidence from top peer-reviewed journals to provide a comprehensive understanding of these dynamics. The objective of this seminar is to
	skills	<ul> <li>understand the mechanisms through which technological change influences the labour market.</li> <li>analyze empirical studies and critically evaluate their</li> </ul>
		<ul> <li>methodologies and findings.</li> <li>discuss the implications of technological change for la market policies and institutions.</li> <li>develop skills to synthesize research findings and precoherent arguments in written and oral forms.</li> <li>learn how to discuss presentations of fellow students provide constructive feedback</li> </ul>	esent
7	Prerequisites	<ul> <li>Solid knowledge in micro- and macroeconomics, labour and econometrics</li> </ul>	economics
8	Integration in curriculum	3. semester
	curriculum Module compatibility	3. semester Master Economics, elective course: Labor Economics Master Arbeitsmarkt und Personal: Wahlbereich Master Sozialökonomik: freier Vertiefungsbereich
9 10	Module compatibility Method of examination	Master Economics, elective course: Labor Economics Master Arbeitsmarkt und Personal: Wahlbereich Master Sozialökonomik: freier Vertiefungsbereich Three reading responses (short paper presentations in s groups) throughout the semester, active course participa seminar paper including presentation	ition,-
9 10	Module compatibility	Master Economics, elective course: Labor Economics Master Arbeitsmarkt und Personal: Wahlbereich Master Sozialökonomik: freier Vertiefungsbereich Three reading responses (short paper presentations in s groups) throughout the semester, active course participa	ntion,-
9 10 11	Module compatibility Method of examination	Master Economics, elective course: Labor Economics Master Arbeitsmarkt und Personal: Wahlbereich Master Sozialökonomik: freier Vertiefungsbereich Three reading responses (short paper presentations in s groups) throughout the semester, active course participa seminar paper including presentation The final grade is based on the seminar paper (60%), its presentation (20%) and an overall performance assessme participation in the classroom including the reading responses/presentations (20%), each of which need to b	ntion,-
9 10 11 12	Module compatibility Method of examination Grading procedure	Master Economics, elective course: Labor Economics Master Arbeitsmarkt und Personal: Wahlbereich Master Sozialökonomik: freier Vertiefungsbereich Three reading responses (short paper presentations in s groups) throughout the semester, active course participal seminar paper including presentation The final grade is based on the seminar paper (60%), its presentation (20%) and an overall performance assessm participation in the classroom including the reading responses/presentations (20%), each of which need to b in order to pass the course.	ntion,- hent for the he passed lace
9 10 11 12 13	Module compatibility Method of examination Grading procedure Module frequency	Master Economics, elective course: Labor Economics Master Arbeitsmarkt und Personal: Wahlbereich Master Sozialökonomik: freier Vertiefungsbereich Three reading responses (short paper presentations in s groups) throughout the semester, active course participa seminar paper including presentation The final grade is based on the seminar paper (60%), its presentation (20%) and an overall performance assessm participation in the classroom including the reading responses/presentations (20%), each of which need to b in order to pass the course. Annually in the summer term Presence: 30 hours. Note: part of these hours will take p throughout the semester (3 dates, each 3 hours) while th take place at the end of the semester (1.5 days)	ntion,- hent for the he passed lace
9 10 11 12 13 14 14 15	Module compatibility Method of examination Grading procedure Module frequency Workload	Master Economics, elective course: Labor Economics Master Arbeitsmarkt und Personal: Wahlbereich Master Sozialökonomik: freier Vertiefungsbereich Three reading responses (short paper presentations in s groups) throughout the semester, active course participa seminar paper including presentation The final grade is based on the seminar paper (60%), its presentation (20%) and an overall performance assessm participation in the classroom including the reading responses/presentations (20%), each of which need to b in order to pass the course. Annually in the summer term Presence: 30 hours. Note: part of these hours will take p throughout the semester (3 dates, each 3 hours) while the take place at the end of the semester (1.5 days) Independent study: 120 hours	ntion,- nent for the ne passed lace